

CHILL WINDS

Are the dreads of those whose lungs are weak? Some fortunate people can follow the summer as it goes southward, and escape the cold blasts of winter and the chill air of spring. But for the majority of people this is impossible. Family cares and business obligations hold them fast.

"Weak" lungs are made strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the obnoxious cough, heals the inflamed tissues, stops the hemorrhage, and restores the lost flesh to the emaciated body.

"I am a railroad agent," writes I. J. Smith, of Buffalo, N. Y., "and am a weak, thin, and feeble man. I have been suffering from a chronic cough and asthma for many years. I have tried many remedies, but have not found any relief. I have found no relief from any other medicine. I have found no relief from any other medicine. I have found no relief from any other medicine."

Sometimes a dealer, tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines, will offer the customer a substitute as being "just as good" as the "Discovery."

You get the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, the best medical work ever published, free by sending stamps, or by purchase of mailing only. Send at once stamps for book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound volume, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

ROOSEVELT'S NEW YEAR.

Brilliant Reception Held at White House.

NEVER EQUALED BEFORE.

All Classes Admitted on the Same Footing—Decorations Were Grand.

Long Lines Pass Through Rooms and are Warmly Greeted by President and Wife.

Washington, Jan. 1.—President Roosevelt's New Year's reception was one of the most brilliant events in Washington's recent social history. All callers were afforded the opportunity of greeting the President and Mrs. Roosevelt and exchanging with them the compliments of the New Year. No distinctions were made, except such as were rendered necessary in preservation of order, and the greetings extended to all—high and low, rich and poor, were alike cordial and sincere.

Today the general public, for the first time, had an opportunity to see the widely heralded improvements in the White House—improvements, which, when completed, will have cost about $600,000. In addition to a desire personally to wish the President and Mrs. Roosevelt a happy New Year, hundreds of persons were attracted to the reception by a wish to see the White House in its new and handsome interior finish and furnishings. To many who were familiar with the interior of the mansion as it was a year ago, the changes made were a revelation.

While, in a general way, the form of the interior has been retained in beauty and effectiveness, it is wholly different. Just 100 years ago to day President John Adams and his wife opened the White House with a New Year's reception to their friends and to the public generally. The dawn of the first New Year within the walls since became historic, was accompanied by the noise of saw and hammer, as was this day. On account of the account of the unfinished condition of the lower floor, President and Mrs. Adams received their guests on the second floor now occupied by President Roosevelt as a library. While the improvements now are more nearly completed than was the mansion itself at that time, it will be several months before the workmen will have finished their task.

An hour before the time for the formal reception to begin the mansion was aglow with myriads of electric lights. To the brilliancy of the great crystal chandeliers and the splendor of the new furnishings was added the beauty of the floral decorations which although few as compared with those of previous New Year's receptions at the White House, were arranged with artistic and effective results.

Young ladies in brilliant and effective gowns formed the handsome forms of the Marine Band, which, as usual, occupied seats in the vestibule.

In the Red, Blue and Green rooms, and in the splendid East room were disposed of vast masses of cut flowers, particularly large white lilies and lilies of the valley. Here and there polka-dot blossoms showed splashes of flaming red. It was noticeable, however, that the floral decorations had been subordinated to the new furnishings and finishing of the rooms.

It was a merry day for the Roosevelt children. Prior to the reception they had a jolly time in the lower part of the house. They manifested the liveliest interest in all the arrangements.

Shortly before 11 o'clock, the hour at which the reception began, the diplomatic corps began to assemble in the Red room. The members of the corps entered the mansion from the South side, as usual, in order to avoid the crush of the throng already gathered about the main entrance on the north side. Under the glare of the electric candelabra the spectacle presented by this cosmopolitan gathering, attired in magnificent court uniforms, sparkling sashes and glistening swords showed resplendent against the red velvet walls and ivory woodwork, was gorgeous.

Promptly at 11 o'clock the trumpeters of the Marine Band sounded a fanfare, announcing the approach of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt and the immediate receiving party. President Roosevelt, with Mrs. Roosevelt on his arm, descending the main staircase, and passing across the main corridor and through the Green room, entered the Blue room, where the guests were received.

Following them came the members of the Cabinet and their accompanying ladies. The receiving party was arranged in the arc of a circle in the bow window of the Blue room. Facing them were the ladies invited to assist at the reception. Between the two sections of the receiving party a lane was formed by cordon of old gold velvet.

Through this lane the callers passed from the Red room, proceeding through the Green room into the East room, and thence down the staircase into the East terrace, and passing into the street opposite the west entrance of the Treasury.

The President was in excellent spirits and Mrs. Roosevelt never seemed happier or more gracious. The President was attired in a frock suit, and the only dash of color about his attire was a tie of grayish tint.

Dislocated Her Shoulder. Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Ferguson Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by all druggists.

A Puzzling Question.

Feminist nature has puzzled philosophers, students and scientists since the foundation of the world. "The way of a man with a maid," was one of the three things which Solomon, with all his wisdom, tackled in vain. The following from an Indiana paper illustrates the contradictions of woman's nature:

"A girl in Indiana played postoffice at a party the other night yelled, shrieked, howled and ran behind the door scratched the young man's face in several places, upset a lamp, kicked over a piano stool and when he finally kissed her on the tip of the ear, she slanted dead away and said she could never look anybody in the face again. They tied the bashful, modest, gentle, soothing creature home and the next day she ran away with a married lightning rod peddler who had a hair pin and ten children."

All druggists guarantee every bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and will refund the money to anyone who is not satisfied after using two-thirds of the contents. This is the best remedy in the world for a gripe, coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough and is pleasant and safe to take. It prevents any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia.

What the Hague Tribunal Is.

The Hague Tribunal, to which the Venezuelan controversy will be referred for settlement, is a permanent court of arbitration provided for by the convention signed at the capital of Holland on July 29, 1899. Fifteen nations are represented in it, each having four members of the court. They are the United States, Great Britain, Russia, Austria-Hungary, Germany, Italy, Belgium, France, Denmark, Japan, Holland, Portugal, Roumania, Spain, Sweden and Norway. Thus there are sixty members of this court. The American members are Melville W. Fuller, Chief Justice of the United States, John W. Griggs, ex-Ambassador General of the United States; George Gray, United States Circuit Judge. Ex-President Harrison was the fourth member.

An administrative council, composed of the diplomatic representatives of the signatory powers residing at The Hague and the Netherlands foreign minister, which exercises the functions of Presidents, performs the work necessary to the organization of every international tribunal.

The powers who desire to apply to the court for a settlement of differences must select from the general list a number of arbitrators, to be fixed by agreement. The court may thus be composed of three members or of the entire list, just as the parties may determine.

Don't Worry.

This is easier said than done, yet it may be of some help to consider the matter. If the cause is something over which you have no control it is obvious that worrying will not help the matter in the least. On the other hand, if within your control you have only to act. When you have a cold and fear an attack of pneumonia, buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and use it judiciously and all cause for worry as to the outcome will quickly disappear. There is no danger of pneumonia when it is used. For sale by all druggists.

Bold Robbery of an Ohio County Farmer on Main Street.

Tom Taylor Throws His Arms Around His Victim.

Secures His Pocket Book and Makes off But is Captured by Fireman Johnson.

WHOLE GANG PLACED IN JAIL.

The Owensboro Inquirer of last Friday, says: David Duke, of Ohio county, was held up and robbed on Main street, near the corner of Lewis, about 5 o'clock Thursday evening, while it was yet daylight. The work was done by Tom Taylor, a well-known crook and huckster, and it is charged that John Wells, Joe Mattingly and Ira Rhoades were his confederates. They are all in jail.

Duke came to the city yesterday with a load of tobacco, which he sold to N. B. Cooke. He was paid $50 in money at his special request, and was given a check for $50. After receiving his money he went to Medley's saloon in company with P. A. Winstanley where the two took a drink. Taylor and the others were in the saloon waiting for something to turn up and Taylor saw the money. He asked Duke to treat him in order that he might have a good sight of the money and as soon as he had taken the drink he gave his companions the wink and left the saloon. On the outside he told them that if they could go with him they would get the old man's pile.

Duke left the saloon and started up the street to see about his horses for the night and Taylor and his gang followed him. Mattingly was left at the corner of Third and Allen, after exchanging hats with the leader. Taylor ordered Wells and Rhodes to go across the street and keep eyes, so that they could come to his assistance if needed. The two men placed themselves as directed and Taylor followed Duke, overtaking him almost in front of Gillette's feed store. He seized Duke around the waist and at the same time thrust his hand in his pocket and pulled out his pocketbook. He then gave the old man a shove and ran rapidly down the street. Wells and Rhodes did the same thing on their side. Mattingly was still holding down his corner and he and Taylor again exchanged hats and walked down the street to the alley between Fredericks and St. Ann. Turning into this Taylor showed Mattingly the money and told him to go to Strehl's grocery and wait there until he came and they would divide up.

As soon as he was robbed Duke gave the alarm and Officer Lyons was soon on the scene. A hasty description convinced him that Taylor was the robber. Hurrying down the street, he caught sight of his man, but lost him again in the neighborhood of the old McCallister factory on West Main Street. Fireman Hop Johnson was with the officer and they separated in search of him. Johnson soon came up on him where he could not get away, and Taylor surrendered, afterward telling the whole story. All the money except $50 and the check was recovered.

WIRELESS

AT ONE CENT A WORD.

Messages Across the Atlantic.

May be as Cheap as that.

Says Marconi.

Sidney, N. S., Jan. 1.—The dinner given in the Sydney Hotel last night by the citizens in honor of Signor Marconi, was a great success. The electrical display was a feature of the decorations. At the opposite ends of the table were placed miniature Marconi towers, representing the stations at Table Head and at Poldhu, Cornwall. Between these two stations an electric spark flashed at intervals signifying the passing of wireless messages.

Mayor Crowe paid a high tribute to Marconi, and the inventor spoke at length on the progress of his invention. After reviewing the early stages of wireless telegraphy, Marconi said:

"The cost of establishing a transatlantic wireless telegraph service is less than $200,000, while it cost $4,000,000 to lay an Atlantic cable.

From this you can readily see that wireless telegraphy can be carried on at a much less cost than cables. At the present time the cable companies serve the purpose admirably, that is for the rich, but the masses—the great majority of people in the civilized world—are precluded from using the cable, because of its cost. Wireless telegraphy, by bringing down the cost of communication over seas, will do a great thing for mankind. As for Great Britain and her colonies and the great American republic to our south it will give a better understanding between them all, and strengthen to a large degree the family ties which bind them.

"As you are aware, we are under contract to transmit messages for 10 cents a word, but you need not be surprised if in the future wireless messages are flashed across the Atlantic at a cost of a cent a word."

Call for a Senatorial Convention.

At a meeting of the Republican Executive Committee of the 7th Senatorial District, held at Beaver Dam, Ky., December 20, 1902, it was ordered that a convention be held in each of the voting precincts in said district on Saturday, July 11, 1903, at 2 p. m. for the purpose of electing delegates to attend a district convention to be held at Hartford, Ky., Saturday, July 18, 1903, at 1 p. m., to nominate a candidate for State Senator in said district. The representatives in said county convention shall be one delegate for each 25 or fraction over 24 votes cast for McKinley for President in 1900; and the delegates to the district convention shall be one vote for each 100 or fraction over 99 votes cast for McKinley for President in 1900. The candidate receiving a majority of all the votes cast in said district convention shall be declared the nominee of the Republican party for the office of State Senator in said district.

An Apologetic Lunch.

He was considerably past middle age, and he possessed gray chin whiskers and hair that curled under in the back. It was noon, and he walked into a restaurant which was by no means a very good one. "Just bring me a little bread and butter and a cup of tea," he said to the waiter. "After the waiter had disappeared the floor man approached him. 'Have you given your order, sir?' he asked. 'Yes,' explained the old gentleman in a conciliatory voice. 'I just ordered a little bread and butter and a cup of tea. I ain't very hungry.' Just as he had finished his luncheon an acquaintance entered and took a seat by his side. 'Had your lunch?' inquired his friend. 'Yes. I wasn't very hungry, so I just ordered a little bread and butter and a cup of tea.' 'You stayed at the cashier's window, he presented the check, which called for 10 cents, and put down the coin. 'I only had a little bread and butter and a cup of tea,' he explained. 'I ain't very hungry.'—New York Herald.

Taxation.

For the beginning of taxation we must go to the time when the first man went to the agricultural produce and cattle, and there was also a curious and very oppressive tax on corpses, which was one of the causes of the revolt of the Israelites under Moses. From the earliest times of the history of man there existed what may be called a national levy for general purposes, chiefly clerical, since two-thirds of it were devoted to the maintenance of the clergy and repairs of sacred buildings. The other third was the original of our present poor rates.

One of the earliest general taxes was the shameful danegeld, levied by Ethelred the Unready in 991 for the purpose of buying off the Danish marauders. It was duly sanctified by the pope and produced an amount equal to a million pounds sterling. Once levied, the tax became permanent and one of the chief of the revenues of the crown till it was abolished in the reign of Henry II. The earliest tax mentioned in "Don Quixote" is that of the "hearth tax," levied on all houses according to the number of hearths or fireplaces. In the reign of Charles II. this tax was revived under the name of hearth money.

The robbery of Dave Duke, an Ohio farmer, in Owensboro, Ky., by a gang of local thugs, has been the occasion of an order by Chief of Police, who without visible effort, must leave the town in a post-haste. Personal notice was served on about a hundred loafers and idlers about town, including several professional gamblers.

It has been suggested to us that we did an injustice to Messrs. M. L. Hevryn and W. H. Barnes in our editorial some time ago, referring to the sale of indictments in the Ohio Circuit Court. We take pleasure in correcting any impression of that character that may have resulted. The people of the county are aware, as County Attorney, these gentlemen executed their duties faithfully. County Attorney has no disposition of indictments, and had no thought of influencing them in our article.

The Republican County Committee, which met here Monday and called a county convention to nominate candidates for Circuit Court Clerk and Representative, had a harmonious meeting. All the candidates at interest, except Dr. Park, were present, and agreed upon the time and manner of holding the convention as set out in the call in another column. The action of the convention, which was but an official ratification of the agreement of the candidates, was, of course, entirely satisfactory to them. Each of the gentlemen announced is a loyal Republican and a man of high character, who will make an honorable canvass and accept the result as a man of honor.

Our candidacy for Governor is booming right along. From every quarter we are receiving assurances of support and good will. But we're not surprised at this; in fact, we were expecting it. We're a political philosopher, and know just how to be a leader in politics. The plan is simple and we're not patent on it. To be a leader, one needs only to do what the people are doing and get in before them and get on boy! This is just what we did and the boys are falling each other to follow us. Just at the Hartford Herald it says it is for us, and why shouldn't it? Beckham stands for the same things we do, but is afraid to speak out plain about it like we did, and the Herald likes a fellow that calls a spade a spade. The majority in Ohio is in favor of the platform we stand on and if we are not elected the old State is chuck full of hypocrites. But why speculate about it; we're going to win!

A STRANGE state of affairs obtains at the town of Indianapolis, Miss. A negro woman was post-mistress there. By threats and intimidations, on account of her color, the post-mistress was driven from the town. President Roosevelt, who knows no other qualification for holding office than duty well done, ordered the postoffice discontinued. The Democratic patrons of the Indianapolis office were not prepared for this sort of punishment for their disorderly conduct, and raised a howl. But Teddy has heard howls before, and with a "what are you going to do about it" sort of composition, lets the howl go on. The President says he can see no good reason why capable colored people may not enjoy the privilege of holding office especially where they form a large percent of the population, and his novel method of punishing those guilty of hounding a Federal officeholder, because of her color, has struck terror to the hearts of the negro-hating Southern Democrats, and still the Hartford Herald urges the negro that it is against his interest to vote the Republican ticket.

The outlook for Republican success in 1904 is very encouraging. The Democratic party, as at present organized, stands for no positive, constructive policy, and, indeed, for no policy at all that commands the confidence of capitalists, agriculturalists or laborers, nor has it evolved leaders, whom the business interests of the country will trust. On the other hand, six years of administration of National affairs by the Republicans, early brought about and steadily maintained a condition of prosperity never before equaled in the country's history. But within the period mentioned there has grown up a system of combining capital into enormous funds for the conducting of gigantic business enterprises that must create a problem with which the world's statesmen have not had to deal before and for dealing with which the world has little stores of experience, upon which they may draw. These large combinations of capital—popularly called trusts—make it possible to manufacture and distribute the necessities of life much more cheaply than could be done before, but the danger lies in their ability to fix the price of their commodities at a rate unfair to the consumer. The control of this possibility is the greatest, if not the only grave public question with which the present administration will be called upon to deal, and if this task is rightly performed, the re-election of President Roosevelt is assured.

LET'S NOT FORGET.

Let us not forget that there were no trusts until there was a Republican party.—Hartford Herald.

Let us not forget, also, that there was no wealth in this country until there was a Republican party.

That there was no Federal Government worthy of the name until there was a Republican party.

That there was no freedom from human slavery until there was a Republican party.

That there was no development of the country until there was a Republican party.

That there was no government honored at home and respected abroad until there was a Republican party.

THE ROAD QUESTION.

This is the season of the year when an improvement in the road system is apparent to the least observing. To our way of seeing it, the only suitable and effective system of maintaining public highways, is to collect a road fund by taxation and have it expended under the supervision of a practical engineer. It is always difficult to convince the public that an increase in taxation will be a benefit, but we believe that if the people could be made to understand fully the benefits of a road tax, judiciously expended, and the proper distribution of the burden of road-building, which would result, they would favor it. Under our present system the male citizens between eighteen and fifty years of age, bear almost the entire burden of our road working.

Bank stocks and deposits amounting to $400,000, railroads in the county worth $100,000, other corporations worth $150,000, incorporated towns, with property valued at $250,000, the whole amounting to about a million of dollars, or one-third the total wealth of the county, and none of it owned by the 18 to 50 men, contributes practically nothing to building and maintaining our public roads. If we take into account the property owned by citizens over the fifty-year limit, we find that more than half of the total wealth of the county contributes nothing toward keeping up our roads.

When the road-working population which constitutes four-fifths of our voting population, get to understand that they can cut their burden of road-working one-half by voting a tax for road purposes, we confidently believe they will do so. We hope our readers will take this matter up and write for these columns their views on the road question. We will give the space for that purpose cheerfully.

WASTED WEALTH.

Did you ever think of what wondrous wealth the millious waste by idleness? There are in this country 30,000,000 of people who labor. Estimate their labor at $1.00 a day each, one day's idleness is a waste of $30,000,000. Given an idleness of thirty days each in a year—and this estimate is far too low—and we have a total of $90,000,000 of wasted wealth every year.

This stupendous amount of wasted wealth would, if garnered, in a single year pay off the national debt; it would buy all the stock of the Morgan steel trust, the magnitude of whose capital startled the world; it would irrigate the great wastes of the West and make additional homes within our borders for forty millions of people; it would maintain five missionaries for every five square miles of heathen lands of earth, but, more and better still, it would comfortably feed and clothe the Nations' poor. But, like Tennyson's brook, this waste will run on forever.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is hereditary as long as ever since time immemorial. It causes lumps in the neck, disfigures the skin, influences the mucous membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"A bunch appeared on the left side of my neck. It cut great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore. I went into a general decline. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed, and I have never had any trouble of the kind since." Mrs. K. F. STROES, Troy, Ohio.

The County Board of Tax Supervisors met Monday and will be in session eight days. The members of the Board are: J. D. Holbrook, W. M. Addington, Tom Wallace, Warren Taylor and Chel Wedding. Mr. Sam Leach, of Cromwell, is clerk.

Mr. J. J. Bzvrth, an industrious and respected citizen, died of pneumonia at his residence, near town, Wednesday, and was buried with Masonic honors in Oakwood cemetery yesterday. Mr. Bzvrth was a useful citizen and his death is a loss to the community. He leaves a wife and several children.

Mr. Oscar Armstrong died at the home of his father, near Shreve, January 5, and was buried in Pleasant Grove cemetery on the 6th. He lived in Owensboro and had come to his father's home to be treated by the family physician for bright disease. He was a highly respected young man. He leaves a wife and one child.

Oscar King died of typhoid fever at China, Tex., December 29. Mr. King was a son of Mr. John King, of Prentiss, and went to Texas last spring to work in the rice fields there. The young man's body was embalmed and brought home for burial. Oscar was a bright and industrious boy and his death, far from home, falls heavily on his parents.

We have just received a new lot of remnant Calico. These bolts contain 500, 1000 and 1500 yards, and 3 yards one-fourth to 2 1/2 yards long, and sell at $1 per bolt. One of the prettiest incidents of the life of a man was the final supper at the New Commercial last night. Those present were: A. E. Cottrell and Edna Warriner, Chester Stevens and Florence Morton, Alvin Patin and Eva Brown, E. B. Birkhead and Isaac Cox, R. H. Hankins and Mabel Hubbard, J. M. DeWeese and Mrs. Smith.

Dr. E. W. Ford has shown some X-ray photographs of the bones of the anatomy of a couple of our colored citizens showing the location of some leaden pellets their enemies had made them. Wash Duncan has a pistol ball near the base of the brain plainly visible in the photograph; and a colored man named Edson has a ball imbedded in his brain. Evidently he thinks "hard" of the fellow who put it there. These pictures are rather gruesome spectacles, but interesting nevertheless.

In this issue of THE REPUBLICAN will be found the announcement of Mr. Silas L. Stevens, of Cromwell, for the nomination of the Republican party for State Senator. Mr. Stevens has been conspicuously connected with the Republican organization in Ohio county for twenty years and is well known to the voters of the county. He is a faithful, untiring worker for his party, a gentleman of high character, and is well fitted for the office to which he aspires. He nominated Mr. Stevens will make a strong candidate, as well as a faithful and efficient Senator when elected.

Birthday Dinner. X-mas day was the birthday of Mr. R. J. Duff, of this city, and his children and near relatives thought it fitting to observe his 65th birthday with a dinner to his honor. All preparations had been made for an excellent repast, consisting of two large turkeys and fruits and all things to make an excellent dinner. All those who were present for dinner were related either by marriage or blood to Mr. Duff, except Miss Lena Bennett and Mrs. Mary J. Hoover. There were forty-nine present besides the immediate family. Quite a pleasant day was spent, renewing old acquaintances and talking over events of by-gone days.

Y. M. C. A. Donation Party. This evening, in their rooms, between the hours of 7 and 10 o'clock, the Young Men's Christian Association will keep open house, and conduct what we are pleased to call a "donation party." On that occasion the people of Hartford and vicinity will be given an opportunity to bring to the Association such things as they may wish to donate for the purpose of equipping and furnishing the rooms.

While this is to be known as a "donation party," none are denied the privilege of attending, if you can not get your present ready by that night, just come right along to the party and tell us what you propose to give us, so that we may know what to expect and can govern ourselves accordingly, or if you do not feel that you can give us any article of furniture or other equipment, at this or at any future time, come without it, you will be welcome whether you bring either present or promise.

The Association will have a short musical program for the entertainment of those who may attend, and in connection with the "donation party" there will be given in Dr. E. W. Ford's office, an X-ray exhibition for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A., from 8 to 9 o'clock, to which a small admission fee of ten cents for each person will be charged, this will be a genuine treat for the people of Hartford. The X-ray is one of the most wonderful discoveries of scientific research, of the 19th century.

We publish a suggestive list or articles needed for the benefit and guidance of those who may wish to make a donation. 1. Hologram or other floor covering, 36 yards, 1 roll top or other style desk, 36 straight back cane-bottom chairs 6 parlor chairs, 2 door mats, rugs, pictures, books, subscriptions to religious papers, subscriptions to magazines, window shades and curtains, shades and curtains for two glass doors, book case, lamp, wash stand, wash bowl and pitcher, Crokinole and Caroma, sofa pillows, clock, mirror, comb and brush, face towels, center table, box couch, Umbrella holder and feather duster.

All persons bringing presents will please attach their cards to same, so that we may know the source of all our remembrances. A. E. C.

Coughing

"I was given up to die with quick consumption. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I improved at once, and am now in perfect health."—Chas. E. Hartman, Gibbstown, N. Y.

It's too risky, playing with your cough.

The first thing you know it will be down deep in your lungs and the play will be over. Begin early with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and stop the cough.

Three sizes: 25c, 50c, 75c. All druggists.

Consult your doctor, if he says take it, then do as he says. If he tells you not to take it, then don't take it. The doctor. Leave it with him. We are willing to do it with him. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

PROVERBS

"When the butter won't come put a penny in the churn," is an old time dairy proverb. It often seems to work though no one has ever told why.

When mothers are worried because the children do not gain strength and flesh we give them Scott's Emulsion. It is like the penny in the milk because it works and because there is something astonishing about it.

Scott's Emulsion is simply a milk of pure cod liver oil with some hypophosphites especially prepared for delicate stomachs.

Children take it naturally because they like the taste and the remedy takes just as naturally to the children because it is so perfectly adapted to their wants.

For all weak and pale and thin children Scott's Emulsion is the most satisfactory treatment.

We will send you the penny, i. e., a sample free. Be sure that this picture is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.
